Treatment of Certain Collateralized Debt Obligations Backed Primarily by Trust Preferred Securities with Regard to Prohibitions and Restrictions on Certain Interests in, and Relationships with, Hedge Funds and Private Equity Funds

AGENCIES: Office of the Comptroller of the Currency, Treasury (“OCC”); Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System (“Board”); Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (“FDIC”); Commodity Futures Trading Commission (“CFTC”) and Securities and Exchange Commission (“SEC”).

ACTION: Interim final rule.

SUMMARY: The OCC, Board, FDIC, CFTC and SEC (individually, an “Agency,” and collectively, “the Agencies”) are each adopting a common interim final rule that would permit banking entities to retain investments in certain pooled investment vehicles that invested their offering proceeds primarily in certain securities issued by community banking organizations of the type grandfathered under section 171 of the Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act (“Dodd-Frank Act”). The interim final rule is a companion rule to the final rules adopted by the Agencies to implement section 13 of the Bank Holding Company Act of 1956 (“BHC Act”), which was added by section 619 of the Dodd-Frank Act.

DATES: Effective date: The interim final rule is effective on April 1, 2014.

Comment date: Comments on the interim final rule should be received on or before March 3, 2014.

ADDRESSES: Interested parties are encouraged to submit written comments jointly to all of the Agencies. SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Background

Section 619 of the Dodd-Frank Act added a new section 13 to the BHC Act (codified at 12 U.S.C. 1851) that generally prohibits banking entities from engaging in proprietary trading and from investing in, sponsoring, or having certain relationships with a hedge fund or private equity fund. These prohibitions are subject to a number of statutory exemptions, restrictions and definitions.

Section 13 of the BHC Act expressly authorizes the Board, OCC, FDIC, CFTC, and SEC to issue implementing regulations. Each Agency issued a common final rule implementing section 619 that becomes effective on April 1, 2014 (“Final Rule”).¹

A separate provision of the Dodd-Frank Act, section 171, generally provides that trust preferred and certain other securities issued by depository institution holding companies must be phased-out of such companies’ calculation of regulatory capital for purposes of determining Tier 1 capital. However, section 171 further provides for the permanent grandfathering of debt and equity securities issued before May 19, 2010, by any depository institution holding company that had total consolidated assets of less than $15 billion as of December 31, 2009, or was a mutual holding company on May 19, 2010 (“community banking organizations”). These grandfathered capital-raising instruments in the form of trust preferred securities or subordinated debt securities (collectively referred to herein as “TruPS”) were issued by community banks frequently through securitization pools (“TruPS CDOs”) that were formed for the purpose of acquiring these TruPS.

II. Discussion

Section 619 generally prohibits a banking entity from acquiring or retaining any ownership in, or acting as sponsor to, a hedge fund or private equity fund, which are defined under the statute to mean an issuer that would be an investment company, as defined in the Investment Company Act, but for section 3(c)(1) or 3(c)(7) of that Act, or “such similar funds” as the Agencies determine by rule. The Agencies have by separate rule implementing section 619, in relevant part, defined a hedge fund or private equity fund through the term “covered fund” to be any issuer that would be an investment company under the Investment Company Act but for section 3(c)(1) or 3(c)(7) of that Act, with certain exceptions and additions.² This definition generally includes pooled investment vehicles, such as many TruPS CDOs, that use 3(c)(1) or 3(c)(7) but do not qualify for another exclusion under the Investment Company Act or the Final Rule.

Section 171 of the Dodd-Frank Act requires, among other things, that the appropriate Federal banking agencies establish minimum leverage and risk-based capital requirements for insured depository institutions and depository institution holding companies that are not less than the generally applicable capital requirements that were in effect for insured depository institutions as of the date of enactment of the Dodd-Frank Act.³ The focus of this section on ensuring that depository institutions and their holding companies maintain strong minimum capital levels is one of the key prudential provisions included in the Dodd-Frank Act.

Importantly in the current context and as noted above, section 171 specifically permits any community banking organization to continue to rely for regulatory capital purposes on any debt or equity instruments issued before May 19, 2010.⁴

A number of community banking organizations have recently expressed concern that the Final Rule conflicts with the Congressional determination under section 171(b)(4)(C) of the Dodd-Frank Act to grandfather TruPS issued as of May 19, 2010, by community banking organizations.⁵ Many community banks and other market participants maintain that the issuance of TruPS using a pooled investment structure was the only practical way for community banking organizations to avail themselves of TruPS for regulatory capital purposes. Accordingly, the TruPS CDO structure was the tool that gave effect to the use of TruPS as a regulatory capital instrument prior to May 19, 2010 and was part of the status quo Congress preserved with the grandfathering provision of section 171. In order to avoid imposing restrictions that could adversely affect the TruPS CDO market in a manner that could undercut the grandfathering provisions that Congress provided in section 171, the Agencies believe that certain TruPS CDOs should be a permitted investment for all banking entities under section 619 of the Dodd-Frank Act.

⁴ See 12 U.S.C. 5371(b)(4)(C).

⁵ The banking agencies recently provided guidance on the application of the Final Rule to TruPS CDOs. See FAQ Regarding Collateralized Debt Obligations Backed by Trust Preferred Securities under the Final Volcker Rule, available at <http://www.fdic.gov/news/news/press/2013/pr13123a.pdf>. See also Statement regarding Treatment of Certain Collateralized Debt Obligations Backed by Trust Preferred Securities under the Rules implementing Section 619 of the Dodd-Frank Act, available at <http://www.fdic.gov/news/news/financial/2013/fil13062.html> (the “Statement”).

The Agencies have determined to act together to adopt an interim final rule. This new interim final rule permits a banking entity to retain an interest in, or to act as sponsor (including as trustee) of, an issuer that is backed by TruPS so long as (i) the issuer was established before May 19, 2010; (ii) the banking entity reasonably believes that the offering proceeds received by the issuer were invested primarily in Qualifying TruPS Collateral (as defined below); and (iii) the banking entity's interest in the vehicle was acquired on or before December 10, 2013 (unless acquired pursuant to a merger or acquisition). Under the interim final rule, a "Qualifying TruPS Collateral" is defined by reference to the standards in section 171(b)(4)(C) to mean any trust preferred security or subordinated debt instrument issued prior to May 19, 2010 by a depository institution holding company that, for any reporting period during the 12 months immediately preceding the issuance of such instrument, had total consolidated assets of less than $15,000,000,000 or issued prior to May 19, 2010 by a mutual holding company. The Agencies have required that an issuer must have invested primarily in Qualifying TruPS Collateral to meet the requirements of the interim final rule; this is intended to cover those securitization vehicles that have invested a majority of their offering proceeds in Qualifying TruPS Collateral. The interim final rule also provides clarification that the relief relating to these TruPS CDOs also extends to activities of a banking entity acting as a sponsor for these securitization vehicles since acting as a sponsor might otherwise be subject to the prohibitions or requirements of section 619. For the avoidance of doubt, notwithstanding clause (iii) above, a banking entity may act as a market maker with respect to the interests of an issuer that qualifies for the exemption, in accordance with the applicable provisions of §§ ____.4 and ____.11 of the Final Rule. The Agencies note that nothing in the interim final rule limits or restricts the ability of the appropriate agency to place limits on any activity conducted or investment held pursuant to the exemption in a manner consistent with their safety and soundness or other authority to the extent the agency has such authority.

The Agencies believe that the approach adopted in the interim final rule appropriately reconciles the policies of section 619 of the Dodd-Frank Act with its companion provision in section 171 of the Dodd-Frank Act and have attempted to encompass the class of instruments Congress intended to grandfather while limiting the scope of the interim final rule in keeping with the objectives of section 619. The Agencies have included a “reasonable belief” standard since the relevant CDOs were structured and made their investments many years ago and all of the relevant documentation may not be readily available to banking entities.⁶ Based on discussions with major market participants involved in structuring and offering TruPS CDOs, the Agencies expect that the interim final rule will cover all of the issuers that were formed primarily for the purpose of investing in Qualifying TruPS Collateral. The Agencies request comment regarding whether a different approach is necessary to accomplish this objective.

III. Request for Comment

The Agencies invite comment from all members of the public regarding all aspects of the interim final rule. The request for comment is limited to this interim final rule. The Agencies request comment on whether the interim final rule is consistent with the purposes of sections 619 and 171 of the Dodd-Frank Act.

⁶ To minimize the burden of applying the interim final rule, the Board, the FDIC and the OCC will make public a non-exclusive list of issuers that meet the requirements of the interim final rule. A banking entity may rely on the list published by the Board, the FDIC and the OCC.

The Agencies will carefully consider all comments that relate to this interim final rule.

IV. Administrative Law Matters

A. Interim Final Rule

The Administrative Procedure Act generally requires an agency to publish notice of a proposed rulemaking in the Federal Register.⁷ This requirement does not apply, however, when the agency “for good cause finds . . . that notice and public procedure thereon are impracticable, unnecessary, or contrary to the public interest.”⁸

After the Agencies’ adoption of the Final Rule implementing section 619, a number of community banking organizations reached out to the Agencies to express concerns about the Final Rule and, in particular, the implications for financial statement purposes relating to the banking organizations’ holdings resulting from their previous capital-raising efforts involving TruPS issued by banking organizations for regulatory capital purposes. The Agencies requested comment in the Notices of Proposed Rulemaking issued by the Agencies⁹ regarding the effects of the definition of covered fund and ownership interests on issuers of asset-backed securities, including the distinctions between debt and equity interests.¹⁰ The Agencies also included a request for comment on trust preferred securities specifically in the context of the proposed rule’s permitted activity for underwriting activities.¹¹ Notwithstanding such requests, the ⁹ See 76 FR 68,846 (Nov. 7, 2011) (“joint Notice of Proposed Rulemaking”); 77 FR 8332 (Feb. 14, 2012) (“CFTC Notice of Proposed Rulemaking”).

¹⁰ See Questions 227-240 of the joint Notice of Proposed Rulemaking.

¹¹ See Question 78 of the joint Notice of Proposed Rulemaking.

Agencies believe that the recently expressed concerns regarding the impact of including TruPS CDOs in the definition of covered fund or on investments by community banks in TruPS CDOs were not included in comments to the Agencies during the comment process.

The Agencies have considered carefully these recently identified concerns, particularly in light of the provisions in section 171 of the Dodd-Frank Act and the concerns raised by community banking organizations regarding the consistency of treatment regarding TruPS issued by community banking organizations, and grandfathered under section 171, and the TruPS CDOs that were used as capital access vehicles for the TruPS issuances. In light of the significant concerns expressed, the Agencies believe there is an urgent need to act in light of the uncertainty expressed by some community banking organizations about whether the Final Rule will require them to dispose of their holdings of TruPS CDOs, which they contend could have an immediate effect on their financial statements and their bank regulatory capital. The OCC, Board, FDIC and SEC noted in the Statement that their accounting staffs believe that, “consistent with generally accepted accounting principles, any actions in January 2014 that occur before the issuance of December 31, 2013 financial reports, including the FR Y-9C and the Call Report, should be considered when preparing those financial reports.” The Agencies’ decision in this interim final rule to permit a banking entity to retain certain TruPS CDOs should be factored into the accounting analysis. Accordingly, the Agencies believe it necessary to take action at this time before banking entities are required to file their next financial reports.¹²

Accordingly, for the reasons discussed throughout, the Agencies find good cause to act immediately to adopt this rule on an interim final basis without prior solicitation of comment.

¹² See Statement, supra note 5, stating that the Agencies’ intend to address this matter no later than January 15, 2014.

With this interim final rule and request for comment, the Agencies are not reopening the final rules that have previously been adopted under section 619.

B. Use of Plain Language

Section 722 of the Gramm-Leach Bliley Act (Pub L. 106-102, 113 Stat. 1338, 1471, 12 U.S.C. 4809) requires the Federal banking agencies to use plain language in all proposed and final rules published after January 1, 2000. The Federal banking agencies believe that the interim final rule is written plainly and clearly, and request comment on whether there are ways the Federal banking agencies can make any final rule easier to understand.

C. Paperwork Reduction Act

The Agencies note that the new interim final rule does not create new regulatory obligations for banking entities, and therefore does not impose any new “collections of information” within the meaning of the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995 (“PRA”),¹³ nor does it create any new filing, reporting, recordkeeping, or disclosure reporting requirements. Accordingly, the Agencies did not submit the interim final rule to the Office of Management and Budget for review in accordance with the PRA. The Agencies request comment on their conclusion that there are no collections of information.

D. Regulatory Flexibility Act

The interim final rule applies to banking entities that may have ownership interests in TruPS CDOs. The requirements of the Regulatory Flexibility Act are not applicable to this interim final rule.¹⁴ Nonetheless, the Agencies observe that in light of the way the interim final rule operates, they believe that, with respect to the entities subject to the interim final rule and within each Agency’s respective jurisdiction, the interim final rule would not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities. The Agencies request comment on their conclusion that the new interim final rule should not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities.

E. OCC Unfunded Mandates Reform Act of 1995 Determination

Section 202 of the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act of 1995 (UMRA), 2 U.S.C. 1532, requires a Federal agency to prepare a budgetary impact statement before promulgating any rule likely to result in a Federal mandate that may result in the expenditure by State, local, and tribal governments, in the aggregate, or by the private sector, of $100 million or more (adjusted annually for inflation) in any one year. The UMRA only applies when the Federal agency issues a general notice of proposed rulemaking. Since this rule is published as an interim final rule, it is not subject to section 202 of the UMRA.

V. Authority: 12 U.S.C. 1851

This interim final rule is issued under section 13 of the Bank Holding Company Act of 1956, as amended (12 U.S. 1851).

Common Text of the Interim Final Rule

Add new § __. 16 to read as follows:

¹⁴ The requirements of the Regulatory Flexibility Act are not applicable to rules adopted under the Administrative Procedure Act’s “good cause” exception, see 5 U.S.C. 601(2) (defining “rule” and notice requirements under the Administrative Procedure Act).

§ __. 16 Ownership of interests in and sponsorship of issuers of certain collateralized debt obligations backed by trust-preferred securities.

(a) The prohibition contained in § __.10(a)(1) does not apply to the ownership by a banking entity of an interest in, or sponsorship of, any issuer if:

- (1) The issuer was established, and the interest was issued, before May 19, 2010;
- (2) The banking entity reasonably believes that the offering proceeds received by the issuer were invested primarily in Qualifying TruPS Collateral; and
- (3) The banking entity acquired such interest on or before December 10, 2013 (or acquired such interest in connection with a merger with or acquisition of a banking entity that acquired the interest on or before December 10, 2013).

(b) For purposes of this § __.16, Qualifying TruPS Collateral shall mean any trust preferred security or subordinated debt instrument issued prior to May 19, 2010 by a depository institution holding company that, as of the end of any reporting period within 12 months immediately preceding the issuance of such trust preferred security or subordinated debt instrument, had total consolidated assets of less than $15,000,000,000 or issued prior to May 19, 2010 by a mutual holding company.

(c) Notwithstanding paragraph (a)(3) of this section, a banking entity may act as a market maker with respect to the interests of an issuer described in paragraph (a) of this section in accordance with the applicable provisions of §§ __.4 and __.11.

(d) Without limiting the applicability of paragraph (a) of this section, the Board, the FDIC and the OCC will make public a non-exclusive list of issuers that meet the requirements of paragraph (a). A banking entity may rely on the list published by the Board, the FDIC and the OCC.

Commodity Futures Trading Commission (CFTC) Appendices to Treatment of Certain Collateralized Debt Obligations Backed Primarily by Trust Preferred Securities with Regard to Prohibitions and Restrictions on Certain Interests in, and Relationships with, Hedge Funds and Private Equity Funds – Commission Voting Summary and Statements of Commissioners

Appendix 1 – Commodity Futures Trading Commission Voting Summary

On this matter, Acting Chairman Wetjen and Commissioner Chilton voted in the affirmative, and Commissioner O’Malia concurred.

Appendix 2 – Statement of CFTC Acting Chairman Mark P. Wetjen

I support the interim final rule adopted by the CFTC and the other Volcker Rule agencies. The Commission believed it was important to join the other agencies in ensuring community banks are protected, as Congress directed, from restrictions in the Volcker Rule intended to lower the risk of large financial institutions.

Appendix 3 – Statement of Concurrence by CFTC Commissioner Scott D. O’Malia

I support the interim final rule adopted by the Commission and the OCC, Federal Reserve Board, FDIC, and SEC (“Agencies”). When an unintended consequence of a regulation is discovered, it is imperative that it be expeditiously corrected to avoid unintentional harm to affected parties. Broken rules must be fixed, and I applaud the work of the Agencies to quickly respond to the public's concerns and comments regarding the holding of TruPS CDOs by community banks affected by the Volcker Rule.
